Capacity Always Within Call.
It is certainly true that no one knows the resources of his own mind and body until some great sense of duty comes to him, rousing him to play his part well in the work of life.

There are unused capacities in brain and nervous system, in mind and moral nature that are capable of development and effective use. Who knows the potentiality of life force in himself until he gives it opportunity for full expression?—Exchange.

Diseases That Ravage Armies.
Modern science has done much to banish disease amongst soldiers, and the scourges of smallpox, malaria and cholera, which in former campaigns have killed more men than bullets, have lost much of their menace for fighting men. There still remain, however, diseases such as dysentery, pneumonia, and enteric, which are likely to break out amongst bodies of troops unless careful precautions are taken by the men themselves.

Height of Sea Fogs.
The height of fogs, on both land and sea, varies with the conditions. Sometimes they are not much higher than the masts of vessels, and again they may extend to a height of hundreds of feet.

COLLINS AND BRADLEY
GO TO JACKSONVILLE
Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Collins and E. H. Bradley, who came to Daytona from Key West in the latter part of January, left Monday afternoon for Jacksonville where Mrs. Collins has relatives. Messrs. Collins and Bradley have for several weeks past been engaged in getting together the material for the special illustrated edition of the Gazette-News, issued last Friday, which is meeting with a very flattering reception. Mr. and Mrs. Collins and Mr. Bradley during their stay here have made many friends who will be glad to know that they are planning to return to Daytona again next fall and spend the winter.

SELLING ALLIES BILLIONS A YEAR IN MUNITIONS

Great Stream of Business Flows Into United States as Result of War.

PLANTS TAXED TO UTMOST

Most of the Contracts for Supplies Run for Two Years or Longer—Goods Sold for Delivery Here—Shipment at Buyer's Risk.

New York.—A common estimate of the war's length is three years. In the first six months of the conflict the United States sold about $400,000,000 in war supplies, not taking into consideration foodstuffs designed for civilian populations. By August 1 our trade will reach $1,000,000,000; and unless something occurs to check this phenomenal business $3,000,000,000 will have poured into the United States before the treaty of peace is signed.

Even if the war should stop right now our trade in the materials of war would soon reach a billion, for most of the great contracts are written to be fulfilled without regard to the course of the war and run for two years, or even longer.

Our gain would be even larger could we supply both sides. As it is, almost nothing is going to the Teutonic allies.

The United States government officials are unable to give anything like correct figures of the trade in war supplies. A large proportion, how large it is impossible to say, goes to Canada first and is shipped from there to England, France, Russia or one of their allies.

There is no penalty for misbidding exports. Much gunpowder is going out in cases marked sugar or salt, especially through Pacific ports to Russia by way of Vladivostok.

In the most authoritative circles it is estimated that the principal items in the four millions of dollars' worth ordered here in the first six months were: Motor cars, $25,000,000; arms, explosives and the like, $105,000,000; iron and steel, $65,000,000; uniforms, socks, sweaters, etc., $30,000,000; chemicals and hospital supplies, $6,000,000; soldiers' shoes, harness and other leather products, $18,000,000; miscellaneous, including food supplies known to have gone to the armies, $160,000,000.

Plants Run Night and Day.
It can be said without fear of contradiction that the allies have not contracted for the entire output of the arms and ammunition factories of the United States, while scores of concerns are enlarging their plants and running three shifts a day to fulfill their foreign contracts.

Many of these companies do not know they are turning out goods for a foreign power. They may surmise it, but they do not care. They deal only through a broker or agent and with great secrecy.

Goods are sold for delivery here, and shipment is at the buyer's risk. The buyer enforces secrecy, because the goods are contraband. The manufacturers surround their plants with high fences and troops of armed guards in order not only to co-operate with the buyers in maintaining secrecy, but also to prevent meddling by agents of governments hostile to the buyers.

The 75 firearm and ammunition factories in the United States ordinarily employ 20,000 persons. Now their forces number 50,000 and are increasing.

The enormous demand for high explosives has forced prices to high levels. Picric acid, used in making explosives, has risen from 25 cents to $2.50 a pound and the entire supply manufacturing is a large feature of business is benefiting from war orders, although these orders in many cases are not large enough to offset the depression in domestic trade.

Many orders are from governments which never before bought in the American market and American business men believe they can hold this trade after the war is over. They argue that much of the work now being done here for Great Britain, to take an instance, has previously been done in Germany, and that the bitter feeling after the war will preclude its being done there again.

A Philadelphia factory is making swords for the British army. Such a contract had never before been received in this country. In the past British swords have been made in Germany.

In the Pittsburgh district, which includes Bethlehem, many Germans who formerly worked for the Krupps are employed. They are now making war material for the allies, although, of course, they do not know this definitely. The men in the factory are not informed for whom a particular six-inch shrapnel shell is being made.

Some odd items are reported. The French government has paid New England manufacturers $260,000 for snowshoes. One concern in Philadelphia is turning out a folding saw with wooden handles for cutting wire entanglements. When the war started the armies used steel pliers for this work, with the result that many men were shocked to death by high voltage electricity.

Factories turned to New Uses.

All sorts of factories have been pressed into commission to make things useful in war. A company in Bridgeport, Conn., which usually makes cemetery monuments of bronze, is now turning out forgings for an auto truck concern which has a large order from the allied countries. Bridgeport, by the way, is enjoying huge prosperity because most of its industrial concerns are working on war orders.

All through Massachusetts and Connecticut war orders are helping to overcome the depression of the first few months of the war. The Fore River Shipbuilding company is very busy. It is generally reported it is making ten submarines for the British navy, these to be delivered at the end of the war. In addition, it is making about 25 other submarines.

Demand for many particular articles has been so great that the allied governments have signed contracts at prices most attractive for the manufacturers. In addition, it is pretty well established that middlemen, brokers and agents are gathering in millions in commissions, some of which are exorbitant.

It is said by a Chicago merchant, for instance, that there is a well-organized band of extortionists, with agents in all the big cities on both sides of the Atlantic and headquarters in New York, which is exacting a toll of from 15 to 20 per cent on practically every shipment of war supplies that leaves the country.

In general the agents of each government maintain that their nation is buying right, while stating a belief that other nations are being deceived.

A well-known Russian exporter of New York city says the Russian government is suffering the most heavily of all. He has sent over a report for wide publication in Russia in which he says that already $20,000,000 has been lost through the exploitation of American commissioners and brokers.

Capacity Always Within Call.
It is certainly true that no one knows the resources of his own mind and body until some great sense of duty comes to him, rousing him to play his part well in the work of life.
There are unused capacities in brain and nervous system, in mind and moral nature that are capable of development and effective use. Who knows the potentiality of life force in himself until he gives it opportunity for full expression?—Exchange.

Diseases That Ravage Armies.
Modern science has done much to banish disease amongst soldiers, and the scourges of smallpox, malaria and cholera, which in former campaigns have killed more men than bullets, have lost much of their menace for fighting men. There still remain, however, diseases such as dysentery, pneumonia, and enteric, which are likely to break out amongst bodies of troops unless careful precautions are taken by the men themselves.

Height of Sea Fogs.
The height of fogs, on both land and sea, varies with the conditions. Sometimes they are not much higher than the masts of vessels, and again they may extend to a height of hundreds of feet.

HOTEL CLARENDON IS HOLDING ITS OWN

Notwithstanding the fact that the season is drawing rapidly to a close, the big hotel is holding its own so far as the guest list at the present time is concerned. While half a dozen persons took their departure yesterday, there were considerably more who came in, some of whom expect to remain for several days at least. The house count is still up in the three figures with good prospects of a fair sized crowd until after Easter Sunday.

Yesterday's arrivals included Mrs. J. L. Wolcott and Miss L. Fifer, Toledo, Ohio; Rollo Dance, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. E. G. Ragon, Miss Ada Ragon and maid, Evansville, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. John N. Beach, Brooklyn, N. Y.

"White Gold."

When silver was first discovered it was thought to be "white gold." It is not known just when gold was first used by man as ornament and coin, but 4,400 years ago the people of the far East and in the countries of northern Africa made most exquisite jewelry out of gold and precious stones. In fact, the art of their hand-wrought ornaments has never been excelled, and modern man has learned from them in technical skill. Gold as used in the early times was probably found in the form of nuggets, as the ancients would hardly have noticed it in any other form. They hammered it by hand and gave it a most beautiful polish. Silver was not discovered for a long time after gold was in use in many countries, and when it was discovered it was thought to be a form of gold, and it came to be known as "white gold." The discovery of copper soon followed that of silver, and then in succession came tin, zinc and lead.

BLIND HERO TO THE FRONT

Capt. E. B. Towse, who was awarded the Victoria Cross for his heroic work in the Boer war, where he lost his eyesight, has gone to the front. Unable to take up arms for his country on account of his disability, the blind captain has gone to one of the bases of the army in France where he will write letters home for his brother soldiers.

Work of Ancient Engineers.

The ancient historians say that over 1,000 miles of the lower Nile were protected by artificial embankment and other works of engineering skill.

LOSES HER ALL

This aged woman remained in her cottage in the North of France until the German bombardment laid the village in ashes. She had to seek safety in the French lines. All her worldly possessions are lost.

Linguistic Crows.

Nearly all the true crows, as well as many of their near relatives, will pick up more or less of human speech in captivity, and it is sometimes hard to believe that the slyness with which they invest their remarks, their aptness and intonation, are altogether accidental.

MAKING SECOND VISIT AT HOTEL CLARENDON

For the second time this season Mrs. J. L. Wolcott and Miss L. Fifer, of Toledo, Ohio, are guests at the big hotel by the sea. The ladies had spent the major part of the season at Seabreeze, and a week ago left for Palm Beach and points further south. When the rush started north they were in it, but decided to stop off here and enjoy a little of the spring weather before going home.

Output of Postage Stamps.

Six days' printing of postage stamps placed end to end would reach from New York to San Francisco.

Seeking Tin Under the Sea.

Mining for tin under the sea is common enough in Cornwall, where the veins are followed for a considerable distance under the waters of the stern coast, but Cornwall is fairly equaled by Chile, which, instead of producing tin, yields large quantities of coal. On Coronel bay are located some of the best coal mines in Chile, and as the seams extend beneath the bay and give evidence of continuing far out into the ocean, coal mining is thus carried on at a good depth beneath the harbor. So impervious to water is the overhead rock that the underground workings are dry and clean. Modern equipment is used, and electric power for all purposes is supplied at a low rate.

6560 Acres of Cut Over Pine Land $4.25 Per Acre

This property lies seven miles west of New Smyrna, on the Orange City branch of the Florida East Coast Railway, which cuts through one corner of it, and parallels it for three and a half miles.

The County road from New Smyrna to DeLand splits it through the center for four miles, same is being hard surfaced now.

About two thousand acres is prairie land, balance cut over pine, and no better trucking or fruit land can be found in Florida.

The drainage is perfect as it lies 22 1-2 feet above tide water, which hits it on the north.

The lands in the adjoining section have sold from $25.00 to $50.00 per acre, and prosperous farms are located on them.

The owner of the land has been holding for $8.50 but is forced to realize quickly, and will sacrifice at above figure.

I would prefer to show this land to someone who knows values when he sees them, and it will take only a few hours to demonstrate it.

One-half cash, balance your own time at six per cent.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION OF INTEREST HERE

RECEPTION AT ALTOONA, PA., IN HONOR OF THE 87TH ANNIVER-SARY OF THE BIRTH OF J. KING
McLANAHAN.

The following notice in a recent issue of the Altoona Tribune, of Altoona, Pa., of a reception held in honor of the 87th birthday anniversary of J. King McLANAHAN, Sr., will be of interest to many people in Daytona and vicinity who met Mr. Lanahan when he was visiting here. Mr. McLANAHAN is a brother of S. C. McLANAHAN of Seabreeze and father of Holley McLANAHAN, architect of the Clarendon hotel.

"A notable feature of the open house held all day yesterday by J. King McLANAHAN, Sr., of East Allegheny street, in celebration of his 87th birthday, was a visitation from Samuel Rea, a native of Hollidaysburg, now president of the Pennsylvania Railroad company. Mr. Rea was a special guest of Mr. McLANAHAN and was accompanied by his wife and daughter, Miss Ruth Rea, the distinguished party arriving here in the president's special car from Bedford, where they went on the previous night, after arriving in Altoona from Philadelphia.

"At the noon hour an anniversary luncheon was given at the McLANAHAN residence which was a very felicitous affair at which were present J. King McLANAHAN, Sr., President Rea, wife and daughter Ruth, Guthrie Linenthal, New York city; Mr. and Mrs. Holley Lanahan and son, Alexander, of Philadelphia, and Mr. and Mrs. J. King McLANAHAN, Jr., and daughters, Misses Helen and Elizabeth McLANAHAN, of Hollidaysburg.

"While many people attended the reception of 'Hollidaysburg's Grand Old Man' during the day, the great majority came in the evening and the brilliantly illuminated mansion presented a very beautiful and interesting scene, filled with the people of the town, gathered to join with their veteran townsman in making this natal day one of the most enjoyable of his life. There were also many guests present from Altoona and other places throughout the county and state, and the faculty and students of Miss Cowles school were in attendance."

Darktown Wisdom.

Acts Almost Automatically.

Among camera improvements is an instrument so completely automatic that it is almost impossible for the operator to make a mistake. In the first place, as the camera is opened the lens automatically finds the proper place for a universal focus. It is a magazine camera carrying plates, and in order to prevent a premature exposure the plate does not fall into its place until the shutter is adjusted, and after the exposure it immediately takes its place in the magazine again. As the plates are exposed they are automatically numbered so that they may be readily identified when being developed. It is said to be impossible to make a double exposure or to neglect to expose a plate by any accident. If any of the essential operations of making the picture are overlooked the instrument is made inoperative, so that the instrument is "fool-proof."

PROBABLE JOHNSON - WILLARD FIGHT DATE WILL BE CHANGED

Late Monday afternoon parties in Daytona, who expect to be at the ringside when the Johnson-Willard battle for the heavyweight championship of the world takes place at Havana, received a cablegram announcing that the match may be postponed for a week. The fight was scheduled to occur next Sunday, the first day of April, but the Cuban president objected to its taking place on Easter Sunday, and the date was changed to April 2nd. Should the date be advanced again, as the cablegram intimates that it will, the event will come off April 9th.

There's the Rub.

FISHERMEN CAUGHT 150-POUND STING RAY OFF DAYTONA BEACH

A huge specimen of dasyatis centrurus (sting ray or stingaree) was caught with a hook off Daytona Beach last Saturday, by members of a Japanese fishing party who were engaged in trying to land other fish (is a stingaree a fish?) of a more edible character. The ugly thing the fishermen finally pulled ashore weighed 150 pounds and had a tall nearly five feet long. Near Keatins' pier somebody rigged up a scaffold from which the stingaree was hung, an object of interest to hundreds of visitors, all day Sunday.

The stingaree, or sting ray, is frequently seen in this locality, its habitat being in Florida waters and those of the West Indies. It is said to be able to inflict a very dangerous wound with the end of its barbed, whalebone-like tail; and it is even claimed that persons have died from wounds inflicted by sting rays.

BETTER GET TICKETS NOW FOR BOAT TRIP AND OYSTER ROAST

It's far better to be safe than sorry. So, if you expect to be "among those present" when those boatloads of fun-hunters sail down the Halifax on the morning of April 2nd, attend to the little, but highly important, matter of procuring a ticket right away, and thus avoid all possibility of being made "sorry" at the last minute, as a consequence of inability to find room on the boats.

That bunch of Brooklyn ball players and the hundred or so regular denizens of these parts who go with them down to the Inlet are booked to have one of those superlatively good times that tax the insensuity of "one-fingered" reporter-typists to describe. Deek says it's going to be "some" festive down there—and Deek's had experience along festive lines.

One ticket costs a dollar. The dollar pays for the boat trip, all the oysters you can climb on the outside of, and imported "irrigation."

The Russian church, which terms itself orthodox—pravoslavy—differs considerably from all the other Christian temples by its semi-oriental style that is half Tartar, half Byzantine, yet possesses its distinctly Slavonic element. With its gilded cupolas, bright-colored roofs and ornaments, white gleaming walls, it has more of a mythologic and legendary character than any stately gothic or romanesque cathedrals.

GOATS AS FIRE FIGHTERS
Herd of 4,000 to Help Uncle Sam Keep Firebreaks Open in National Reserves.

San Francisco.—Give a goat a chance and he makes a first class fire fighter. In recognition of his efficiency the United States forest service announces that the secretary of agriculture has just authorized the free grazing of 4,000 goats in the national reserves of California, together with a bonus to their owners for handling them.

Cutting wide trails known as firebreaks, across which brush fires cannot jump, is a standard method of fire prevention. The trouble is that each year there recurs at heavy cost the problem of cleaning out the trails. Turn loose a herd of hungry goats—and a goat is always hungry—and they soon will crop the undergrowth short and clean.

Canada's Capital.
The old seat of government is French Canada was the city of Quebec. Under British rule the capital was Montreal, but as a result of a riot in 1849 the government was removed and alternated between Toronto and Quebec until 1858, in which year Queen Victoria selected Ottawa as the capital of Canada. Ottawa was founded under the name of Bytown in 1829 and was incorporated in 1854 when the name was changed.

The Silent Hour.
One of the most valuable and effective methods of relaxation, recently tried for both children and mother, has been "the silent hour" immediately after luncheon. Each member of the family's privilege of reading, writing or sleeping is respected during this hour, in which children—after a few days' trial—readily co-operate.

"IVA MILLION," SAYS BRIDE
And So Has O. A. Million, the Happy Bridegroom Who Wedded Iva.

Olathe, Kan.—In the probate judge's "Cupid Parlor," Judge Roberts united in marriage Oscar A. Million, twenty-four years old, and Miss Iva Everitt, nineteen, both of Kansas City. The bridegroom still remains O. A. Million, but the bride blushingly admitted after the ceremony that "Iva" Million in name at least.

When the bridegroom asked the judge about his fee he said he was not used to officiating where Millions were involved and so would leave the amount to the bridegroom. The bridegroom paid the bill, the bride added a Million thanks and the happy numerals left to catch the car back to Kansas City.

Preserving Cut Flowers.
Cut flowers may be preserved by keeping them in a moist atmosphere. Another method is to dip them carefully as soon as gathered in perfectly limpid gum water, and after allowing them to drain for two or three minutes to set them upright. The gum forms a transparent coating on the surface of the petals and stems and preserves the color and figures of the flowers long after they have become dry and crisp.

The Boy Who Dreams.
It is a good thing for the farmer boy to have an imagination, says the Prairie Farmer. It is a good thing for him to "dream dreams and see visions." It takes a dreamer to see the transformation that intelligent effort will bring to pass on the old place. It takes a dreamer to see how much more desirable that place will be in ten years than a job in a dry goods store.—Emporia Gazette.

SUPERBA LADS WON ANOTHER LICKING TODAY FROM N. Y. A.

The Wild Bill gang took the fourth and last game of the series from Wilbert Robinson's trolly dodgers, this morning, in a game that made the local prides look like a bunch of amateurs. All pitchers looked alike to the tribe of Donovan, and each of the New York batters increased his batting average by making a hit or two. In all they amassed an even dozen runs and pulled down 18 hits, while they accepted seven walks and a like number of errors from the hands of the Superbas.

Pat Ragon started for Brooklyn and during the five innings he adorned the box, the Yankees crossed the rubber a half dozen times. Cadore followed for an inning, and allowed a couple of hits, but kept the terrible Yanks from scoring. He was removed in the last half of the inning to allow Ollie O'Mara to bat for him. The veteran "Iron Man," Coombs, was the last to show for Robble's bunch, and during his regime the Highlanders added another half-dozen to their count, largely through loose support and Coombs' own generosity.

Meanwhile the Superbas were having some difficulty in scoring off Ray Keating, who allowed eight hits and four runs in the six innings he held forth. Fisher took Keating's place at the beginning of the seventh and allowed Brooklyn to glean a pair of tallies and three hits. He nipped an incipient rally in the ninth, leaving Cutshaw stranded on third.

In the first, Maisel walked and was forced by High, who went to third when Cree bingled. High scored when Miller, who was playing first, attempted to throw him out at the plate on Pipp's grounder. Cook lined to Getz, who doubled Cree off second. Brooklyn came right back in their half. Schultz, who had walked, scoring on Cutshaw's double to center, after Miller had fanned. George came home when Hummell singled to right.

Mullen, first up for New York in the second, walked, went to second on Getz's bobble on Nunamaker and came home when Maisel singled to right. Nunamaker went to third, following which Fritz stole second and High walked. With the bases filled Cree fouled to Schultz. Brooklyn went out in order.

The third saw four runs cross the plate for the Yanks, when every man in the lineup faced Ragon. An error by Cutshaw, followed by a double by Mullen and singles by Boone, Nunamaker and Keating accounted for the runs. Brooklyn added one in their half. Cutshaw forced Schultz, who had started the inning by singling, went to third on Hummell's second hit. Myers sent George in and Hummell to third with a single, but the chance for a run vanished when Getz grounded out, Boone to Pipp.

Both sides went out in order in the fourth, and neither tallied in the fifth, though Schultz started the Brooklyn half by tripling to left. He was left at the far corner, however, when Miller grounded to Maisel who robbed him of a hit by a great stop and throw, while Cutshaw fouled to Nunamaker and Hummell dropped one into Cree's hands.

New York wasted a couple of hits in the sixth, while the Robins added one on a double by Getz and a single by McCarty. In the seventh New York added a couple, after two were out, on a walk to High and successive hits by Cree and Pipp, interspersed with a pair of the Brooklyn errors.

No damage by either side in the eighth, but in the ninth the Highlanders bunched hits by High, Pipp, Cook, Boone and Nunamaker together with a brace of errors, for a total of four runs. Schultz headed a rally in hope for the Dodgers in the last half, when he got his third hit of the game.

Miller flied out, but Cutshaw, short out his second double and the team was safe at third. Hummell started them both with a sacrifice fly, and the game ended when Myers flew out to Pipp.

Lineup and score by innings:
New York—Maisel, 3b; Hummell, 1b; Cree, cf; Pipp, 1b; Cook, 2b; Boone, ss; Nunamaker, c; Keating and Fisher, p.

Brooklyn—Schultz, 2b; Miller, 1b; Cutshaw, 2b; Hummell, 1b; Myers, cf; Zimmerman, rf; McCarty, c; Ragon, Cadore and Coombs, p.

Danger in Overworking Eyes.
Oculists state that comparatively few persons have absolutely normal eyesight; those who have do not take care always to read in work under proper conditions of light and the result is that most adults and many children so overwork the muscles about the eyes as to form wrinkles and loose, falling flesh.

SOME JUDGES ARE LIKE ALL JURIES ARE SAID TO BE

One of the things that makes the Daytona police court so interesting is that nobody seems to be able to guess what is going to happen next. In that temple of justice precedent has about as much chance of developing into a "highly-respected citizen" as a clean-picked bone has of out-running a hungry hound. All of which goes to show the correctness of the Demosthenic philosophy embodied in this classic sentence, "You can't never tell."

That same pretty, white suit came up smiling again this morning, but its 150-odd pounds of judicial content somehow looked out of sorts. The gang of hangers-on looked for nothing short of hanging and quartering of the trio of terror-stricken colored culprits who sat waiting for the sun to set forever on their hopes and aspirations.

First up was a pair of alleged warriors, by name Will Mitchell and C. J. Robinson. H. R. M. shuffled the deck and then tossed C. J. into the discard, as it was positively shown that he had permitted his burly side-partner-in-trouble to do all the fighting. Not so with Mitch, who admitted that he had made violent use of his "dukes" in chastising C. J. for "telling tales" on him. And what's more, Mitch didn't appear to be overwhelmed with penitence. Softly, almost regretfully (it seemed) the court requested Mitch to pay the city $5, plus $2 costs.

The stern command issued Monday morning had been obeyed. That Henry Jones nigger, a boy apparently about 16 years old, was also on hand to take his medicine. Henry was accused of trying to keep the officer from locking up Paul Wells, Saturday night. His honor beheld Henry with slightly hardened eyes, and asked what he had to say. Henry gulped and said: "Guilty," but he denied having slashed the cop's neck with a knife. "Sixty days in jail, $5 fine and $2 costs," answered the court; and then added, "but the jail sentence is suspended until you come up here again. Understand!!!" Henry's understanding was fine.

The Paul Wells case was reopened. In a way, and the mayor decided to suspend the 60-day prison sentence and let Paul pay a fifty-dollar fine and four dollars' costs. Paul's happiness is unbounded. Why? Because of the astonishing fact that he was able to dig down in his jeans and produce $54. That's enough to make a whole camp meeting happy.

Wiping Out Beasts of Prey.

A mountain lion recently killed in the Grand Canyon game preserve, which adjoins the Tusayan national forest, measured ten feet from nose to tail. Mountain lions and other beasts of prey such as wolves, coyotes and wildcats, are killed by forest officers and game wardens because they are a menace to stock and to game animals.

CONCERNING FIRE INSURANCE RATES

Appended is the reply of the Hartford Fire Insurance company to an inquiry and complaint of a winter resident of Daytona regarding high rates for fire insurance in this city. The letter, which follows, is sufficiently explanatory:

"Your favor of the 27th ultimo addressed to the company has been referred to our office. We have read same with much interest. We are not surprised that the rates generally and especially on dwelling houses in Florida should appear to citizens who are familiar with rates in the eastern states to be very high and apparently out of all reason; but we are quite sure that if you will investigate the matter you will readily ascertain the reason and locate the trouble.

"If you will refer to the publication known as 'Fire Insurance by States,' you will find that in the state of Massachusetts the average rate of premiums for 33 years has been 98c, and during that period the loss ratio to the companies has been 57.3 per cent. In Florida during the same period the average rate of premiums has been 2.09, and the loss ratio 61.9 per cent.

"These figures mean that in spite of the fact that the average rate in Florida is more than double the average rate in Massachusetts, it has not yielded a profit.

"The average expense in the insurance business is in the neighborhood of 40 per cent. Add this figure to the loss ratio of 57.3 and the result shows that in Massachusetts the companies have made a profit of 2.71 on each dollar received in premiums. In Florida the companies have paid out nearly $1.02 for every dollar received.

"Although the Hartford Fire Insurance company has a very large business in Florida on dwelling houses, we have never been able to make any money, in spite of the high rates on that class of business, and we do not know any company doing business in the state of Florida that has ever made any money on dwelling houses despite the rates. If Florida were a gold mine for insurance companies, as some people seem to think, it is a little surprising that more companies do not do business in that state. The records indicate that there are only about 83 companies doing business in Florida, whereas, in Massachusetts, where the rates are lower, there are about 160 companies doing business. Insurance rates are made as a result of the fire waste in each state. As long as Florida outstrips many of her sister states in this fire waste, the rates are bound to remain high. If the fire waste were reduced, competition would certainly force the rates down just as water will seek its level."

SEND THEM TO YOUR FRIENDS IN THE NORTH

The Illustrated Edition of the Gazette-News issued last Friday is an appropriate souvenir to send to your northern friends. A copy may interest them in Daytona and cause them to become winter visitors if not all-year residents. A dollar bill will send 20 copies to 20 persons. Just send the money and a list of names and addresses — the Gazette-News company will attend to the mailing.

Unwelcome Messengers of Defeat.

One of the more genial practices of Ivan the Terrible was to stick a steel lance through the foot of a messenger who brought him bad news. All the "A. D. T." men of the old days had a hard life. The wonder is now that in those times anybody could be found to tell the truth of a defeat. Incredible as it may seem, there was always some impetuous ass who would actually put spurs to his horse to get to the king, or the czar, or whatever master it was, to tell him that his dubs at the front had lost the battle. Then the king, or the czar, or whatever it was, would call the impetuous one a slave or something worse, without smiling, and have his head cut off, or boil him in oil, or pin his foot to the ground as if he were responsible. As has been intimated, Ivan the Terrible was particularly adept in these scholarly ways of punishing bad news.

NEWS OF THE HOTELS

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Tripp, Mr. and Mrs. R. Flick and Mr. and Mrs. R. D. McDonald, who are spending the season at DeLand, motored over from the county seat Sunday. While here they were entertained at Schmidt's hotel.

Mrs. G. N. Rucker, wife of the premier pitcher of the Superbas, the famous and justly celebrated G. Napoleon Rucker, arrived at the Despland, Monday, and will spend the remainder of the training season with her husband.

F. E. Keevoe, C. E. McDonald and John Wieds, of Brooklyn, are members of an automobile party which arrived at the Despland Monday. The men from the "City of Churches" had been touring the southern part of the state, and were well satisfied to strike Daytona. They will remain here for a couple of days before proceeding to St. Augustine and Jacksonville.

The volume of business at the Despland shows little signs of abating, the house count last evening being well above the 100 mark. While this, of course, would be dwarfed by the number of guests entertained at various times throughout January and February and the latter part of March, nevertheless the count is rather high for this late in the season. The courtesy of the hotel's manager, head clerk, and in fact, all the hotel employees, accounts for the great popularity of this hostelry among the travelers of the nation.

AVIATION POPULAR IN THIS VICINITY

Aviation has been popular at Daytona, Ormond and Seabreeze this season and many winter visitors and residents have availed themselves of the opportunity to view the earth from a distance.

Ruth Law has been busy carrying passengers near the Nautilus casino; Captain Herrman has been carrying many passengers in his flying-boat at Daytona during the past few days.

George Gray has been flying at Ormond all winter, and one of his delighted passengers last week was Miss Florence Walbaum, of Ormond Beach, who made a high altitude flight and gazed upon the earthly sphere from among the clouds. Miss Walbaum was delighted with the flight and is contemplating future aerial trips.

Another recent passenger with Gray was Thomas Williams.

First Bank Notes.

The Chinese were the first people to issue bank notes. They started in this business 27 centuries before the birth of Christ. One of these bank notes may still be seen in the Asiatic museum, Petrograd. It is printed in blue, on white paper made from mulberry tree fiber. Round the margin is a motto which rather indicates that the first Chinese banker was of Scotch origin. It reads: "However much you may possess, strive to be thrifty."

VICTORY DUE, BUT FAILED TO ARRIVE-- FOR THE SUPERBAS

SNAPPY MONDAY AFTERNOON
GAME ENDED WITH WILD BILL
HOLDING THREE AGAINST ROB-BIE'S SMALL RUN.

'Tis a weepsome story, but history must be recorded.

"Conductor" Robinson's train was due to arrive with a victory yesterday afternoon, but the Donovan gang of Highlanders put an obstruction on the track — and the train was wrecked.

The said obstruction being composed largely of a pair of boxmen—Caldwell and Pieh — who were aggravatedly stinging when it came to allowing hits. Caldwell doled out two little singles and a double during his five-inning occupancy of the position; then Pieh went in for the remaining four sessions, with an armful of hits, all of which he still had when the last despairing Dodger lay dead on the battlefield at the close of the last half of the ninth.

But it was a good game; and if anybody guesses that the Superbas did not play jam-up, gingery ball, the guesser has some more guesses coming to him.

That husky crew of New York Yankees under the leadership of Wild Bill Donovan, accomplished that which other teams had tried in vain to do this season, namely: they took a series from Wilbert Robinson's pets. After winning a 5 to 2 verdict in Sunday's encounter they came right back after more glory, and through the efficient pitching of Slat Caldwell and "Si" Pieh, took the third game of the series with a three to two score.

Caldwell took up the pitching burden for the New York bunch and during the five innings through which he held sway the Superbas garnered three hits and a pair of runs, while off the lanky "Si" Pieh, they failed to register a hit or run, despite the fact that the recruit was wild and walked three on the first inning he pitched. After his initial innings, the sixth, however, he steadied but nine men facing him in the last three rounds.

Robinson sent Sherrod Smith to the mound for the first five innings and the Highlanders grabbed off a pair of runs against the portside, an error helping in the first one, while Boone's second double and a single by Caldwell that was too hot for Gus Getz to handle, was responsible for the second. Appleton replaced Smith in the sixth and got along in fine shape until the ninth, when a pair of hits and an error produced the winning run.

In the first, High singled past third, after Maisel had been thrown out at first by Cutshaw, went to second when Cree grounded out to Silent John Hummell (who took the place of Daubert), but was left stranded on the path when Pipp was thrown out at first by Schultz. The trolley dodgers went out in order.

With two out in the second, Boone doubled to center, but his effort availed the Yanks nothing, as Sweeney went out by the Schultz-Hummell route. Myers singled through the box for the dodgers and stole second with one down, but Getz fanned after which Caldwell took care of Willie Zim.

After Caldwell had gently grounded to Smith, in the third, Maisel picked out one that suited him and drove it to left for two sacks. From this strategic position he saw Buck Wheat take care of High's fly. But the trouble was yet to come in the person of Birdie Cree, who singled to center. Myers had a fierce time picking up the sphere, and when he finally got it, made an effort to catch Maisel at the plate. He made a swell throw—from the Yankee viewpoint—the ball passing over McCarty's head and rolling to the Brooklyn dugout. When the dust had cleared Maisel was over the plate, with Cree safely perched on third. Pipp walked and stole second, and the stanza closed when Cook grounded out, Getz to Hummell. McCarty and Smith walked to start the inning for Brooklyn, but Schultz forced Mac at third, following which Hummell and Cutshaw fanned.

Boone's second double and a single by Caldwell accounted for the second Highlander tally, in the fourth. The Superba bunch went out in order, High gobbling up a couple of flies from the bats of Wheat and Myers, while Maisel and Pipp cared for Gus.

With one down in the fifth Pipp walked for the Wild Bill tribe, but Smith caught him off the bag, Cutshaw getting the putout. Cook ended the inning by breezing. The fifth was the big inning for the Robinson bunch, for after Zimmerman had been retired through the classy stop of Maisel, McCarty got his second walk. Right at this point "Robbie" exercised some fine strategy that was responsible for the sum total of the Brooklyn runs. Ollie O'Mara appeared upon the scene batting for Smith, and Ollie proved to be the man for the place when he doubled down the left field foul line, Mac going to third. Schultz ambled up to the plate and after looking over a couple, planted one in left field, Mac and Ollie cantering in with the runs that tied the count. The Teuton was out on an attempted theft and Hummell fouled out to Sweeney.

Appleton took the place of Smith and set the Yankee sluggers down in order in the sixth, his speed and curves proving too much for the enemies' bats. Seeing that Robbie had changed twirlers, Wild Bill sent Pieh to the slab. Pieh (it's pronounced pie) proceeded to work himself into a beautiful hole, and then worked himself out. He started the round by passing Cutshaw and Wheat. He Myers attempted to sacrifice and fouled to Sweeney. Getz walked, filling the bases. Zimmerman tried to win immortal fame but succeeded in only dribbling one in front of the plate, and Sweeney got George Cutshaw coming in from third. With the bases still loaded, McCarty filed to High, and all danger was over.

Both sides went out in order in the seventh, but in the eighth, Cree, first up for New York, doubled to right and went to third when Appleton cut loose a wild pitch. Pipp struck out, and Cree was caught at the plate when Cook grounded to Hummell. Mullin made the last out when Cutshaw threw him out at first. Nothing doing for the Superbas in their half.

Boone started the ninth with his third hit of the game, and was forced by Sweeney. Pieh came through with a single to right, however, and when Cutshaw juggled Zimmerman's relay, Sweeney scored, ending the scoring for the day. After Getz had popped to Pipp in the Brooklyn half, Zimmerman took one between the shoulders and ambled to first. McCarty filed to High, and Zimmerman ended the game when he was thrown out attempting to steal second.

Both teams put up a cracking good brand of base ball, and the fans were well repaid for their money. The Highlanders had a perfect day in the field and pulled some spectacular stuff. High took care of seven flies during the contest, while Boone starred with the stick, getting a pair of doubles and a single out of four times at bat. Cree delivered a single and a double in five attempts.

GRAY PLUNGES INTO WATERS OF ATLANTIC

AVIATOR HAS MIRACULOUS ESCAPE FROM DEATH WHILE ON WAY TO JACKSONVILLE FROM ORMOND.

Just after starting in his Wright biplane for Jacksonville, Sunday afternoon, George Gray, who has been flying at Ormond Beach this season, met with a mishap that wrecked the machine, and came nearly resulting seriously to Gray himself.

When over the ocean some distance from the beach at a place about four miles north of Ormond, Gray lost control of the machine in some manner and it plunged into about five feet of water. How Gray escaped instant death is a miracle, but as it was he was badly bruised and lay unconscious near the water's edge for over an hour, before help reached him. The planes of his machine are badly broken but the canvas and motor were but slightly damaged.

It is said that the fall caused Gray to lose his nerve and he has announced that he will give up flying. The machine is offered for sale in today's Daily News. The Wright biplane is said to cost in the neighborhood of $6,000, including the license to operate. That Gray will dispose of his biplane for a small part of this sum is the statement given out by his friends.

Abram-man.

It was at one time the practice to allow the inmates of the Abraham ward of Bethlehem hospital, London, to go about begging for the benefit of the hospital. Certain vagrants imposed on the charitably inclined by pretending to be actual inmates and were therefore known as Abram-men. Hence the term Abramman, one who obtains money by shamming sickness.

"PRINCE" IS NOT DEAD AS RECENTLY NOTED

By the Daily News:

On March 19th the front wheel of his auto ran over his hind leg, but no bones were broken and I took him to Alveta Wideman in Midway, where the dog has been boarded for the past two years for the owner, Sallie Weaver, formerly Sallie Wilson, to whom Mr. J. H. Hendricks gave the dog when he was 250.

I took him there for treatment and feeding, but there met Sallie Weaver who was making a brief visit to Daytona and was leaving the next day to return to Fellsmere, expecting to stay there many months, and said she would take Prince with her and write to me when he got along.

On March 24th I received the following postal: "Mr. G. E. Rogers, Dear Sir: I am sorry, but little Prince is dead. Yours truly, Sallie Weaver. This card was postmarked Fellsmere, Fla., March 23, 1915, 10 a.m. Yesterday I found that Prince was at his old home on Magnolia avenue, where he was receiving the kindest care and not much the worse for age, and although he is very old I hope he may yet live many happy years."

W. C. T. U. MEETING WAS UNUSUALLY INTERESTING

The regular monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held in the social hall of the Congregational church last Friday. The meeting was a very interesting one and well attended. Excellent talks were given and fine papers were read by many of the members and visitors present. Mrs. Oakes had charge of the program which was a most interesting one.

Russian Priests Must Marry.
While the Catholic priest must be a celibate, the Russian must be married when he gets a position. As soon as he loses his wife he has to give up his position or go into a monastery. There is celibacy in the Russian church, but this exists only in the monasteries. A monk can never be a parish priest.

cently returned to her home in Brook-at the Hotel Poinsettia.

Really Hard Thing to Do.

It is no great matter to associate with the good and gentle, for this is naturally pleasing to all, and even one willingly enjoyeth peace and loveth those best that agree with him. But to be able to live peaceably with hard and perverse persons, or with the disorderly, or with such as are contrary to us, is a great grace and a most commendable and manly thing—Thomas a Kempis.

Cremation Long in Use.

The origin of cremation is lost in the days of unrecorded history. It was practiced sporadically by the pre-Christian civilizations, except in those countries whose religion, just as do some religions today, forbade its practice. The Parsees were worshippers of fire, but prohibited cremation because of the opinion that the fire was thus polluted. The Greeks and the Romans practiced cremation, while the Egyptians considered it an act of paganism and disposed of their dead by earth burial. The revival of the practice in Europe in the seventeenth century was greeted with horror by the medieval peasants. Kings prohibited it under penalty of torture.

Toys in the Middle Ages.

Horace makes mention of the stickhorses of the Roman children. Missals of the middle ages picture little people still astride such makeshift steeds, and the ordinary riding horse of the ordinary child remained a stick with a horse head until late in the seventeenth century. One hundred years later we find horse forms with curtains around them, so that the child may run on his own legs beneath the sheltering drapery, just as clowns in the circus do today. Early in the nineteenth century rocking horses came into fashion, after which, in 1867 horses were shown at the Paris exposition covered with hair and very natural in form—the toy horse, as we know him today.—Mothers' Magazine.

Triumph for Great Composer.

When Handel's "Messiah" was first performed in London, the audience was exceedingly struck and affected by the music in general, but when the chorus struck up, "For the Lord God omnipotent reigneth," they were so transported that they all, including the king, who was present, started up and remained standing till the chorus ended; and hence it became the custom in England for the audience to stand while that part of the composition is performed.
